

MY TABLE

It is always good to put things on the table hold things in and you are unable

Life is full of happiness and gratitude Climbing the steps to that higher latitude

Letting things go just to be free that's where we find the real me

Never holding back feelings inside all bear nothing to try to hide

Finding important things in life leaving behind the stress and strife

Finding friends that don't pretend keeping them forever never to end

Living it up with all you want and need never to find hurt and bleed

Learning from the greatest teachers performing not sitting in the bleachers

Becoming the most complete never having to be discrete

I hope to keep my table clean and looking new I hope for you the same view

by Matthew Reid
12/2/08